Elizabeth Weiffenbach

Dedication

To Miss Elizabeth Weiffenbach who is most sincere and loyal in her devotion to Lafayette; who, through her rare combination of artist and teacher, brings pleasure and distinction to many in the study of art; and who inspires the lasting affection of all who know her, we proudly dedicate the yearbook of 1938.

Foreword

In this Yearbook, we the members of the Class of 1938 present a record of our achievement throughout the four years of our enrollment in Lafayette; we have attempted to portray in pictures and in print our accomplishments in social, athletic, and scholastic fields of endeavor; we hope the efforts will meet with approval and interest.

FRANK R. GOTT

During his four years as principal of Lafayette, Frank R. Gott has earned the regard of the student body by his untiring efforts for their happiness and welfare. An Oberlin graduate, he spends his leisure hours reading fiction, pitching horseshoes, traveling and enjoying the activities of three energetic daughters.

Affable, well-informed alumnus of the University of Illinois, Irvin H. Himmele, has completed his fourth year as Lafayette's Assistant Principal. He has proved himself a valued advisor in the settlement of problems ranging from the registration of Freshmen to releasing recalcitrant padlocks.

IRVIN H. HIMMELE

ADMINISTRATION

"Lafayette! Lafayette!
Our voices shall raise
With proud acclamation
A song in thy praise!"

ROSA R. WEIGAND

In Memoriam

In this past year Lafayette has suffered a truly great loss in the passing of Miss Rosa R. Weigand. For over twenty years a kindly, guiding, unassuming influence in the lives of her students, she will long be remembered by those who have benefited by her friendly interest and conscientious instruction.

The Monitors of Lafayette High School, organized and directed by Mr. Himmele, and headed by captains Irma Rumizen and James Beardsell, are a capable and serviceable group.

One may see them at all hours of the day, patrolling the halls or sitting near the doorways where they receive and direct visitors. Monitor duties also include taking charge of the cafeteria during lunch hours, clerking in the offices, helping in the infirmary, delivering messages, and operating the switchboard in the office.

These administrative duties do not, however, comprise the sole activities of the monitors. They conduct almost all of the social affairs of the school. The outstanding event of last fall, a roller skating party at Scott's Rink, was so successful that another was scheduled for March. The monitors also arranged a sleighride in East Aurora and a skating and tobogganing party in Delaware Park. Many of the school dances are sponsored by this group.

This year a novel idea originated. The monitors are now the proud wearers of light blue beer jackets which were purchased in early fall. These have become popular and are an effective means by which the other students may identify the monitors.

Because of the work of this student administrative group, the minor, inharmonious details have been ironed out; and Lafayette runs on a smoother, pleasanter basis.

Monitors

T. CEDERQUIST

"eats Wheaties"

Radiant Vice-President, Teckla Cederquist, who was the most popular girl of the Senior Class until she started collecting funds for the Joint Charities, when asked the reason for her tremendous popularity, replied: "I eat Wheaties four times a day and brush my teeth with Calox Tooth Powder."

A. WOOLER

"over nine thousand stamps"

Versatile, modest Class President, "Bud" Wooler, has been occupied since his election attending committee meetings, writing speeches, and reading his mail. German is his best subject; football, his favorite sport. He relies on his collection of over nine thousand stamps and swing music for entertainment.

"four assistants"

Fortunate Class Treasurer, Richard Whiting, who, like our president, answers to the friendly name of "Bud," enjoys the capable efforts of four assistants. A versatile person, Dick enjoys also a rare trio-Physics, basketball and clarinet music.

OFFICERS OF THE CLASS OF 1938

K. BRUNER

"a darling little class"

Katherine Bruner, pretty, petite Senior Class Secretary, attributes her success to her last year's term as Class Secretary and her alertness to her siesta from 12:14 to 12:56. She has no academic favorites, but "typing is such a darling little class."

E. DULMAGE

"detests Robert Taylor"

With grace and poise, as well as beauty, Evelyn Dulmage, Senior Marshal, glides through the halls. She detests Robert Taylor, yet Tyrone Power is her idol. As a spectator she enjoys all types of sports. "Lafayette," she says, "exemplifies the very essence of friendship."

SENIORS

"Our hearts are filled with true devotion,
Gaining strength as fewer grow our days.
Thy sons to thee are ever loyal,
Linked by bonds of White and Violet."

Frank R. Gott

Four years ago you and I began our careers in Lafayette High School as freshmen. Inexperienced in a new situation, we had much to learn. From repeated contacts and sharing of problems we profited greatly. Now, after four years of climbing, let us pause to look down on the way we have come. Sometimes the path was steep and filled with seemingly insurmountable obstacles; at other times few difficulties presented themselves.

In the beginning we knew little of each other and encountered a maze of daily situations which required much time simply for adjustment. By developing the ability to carry on independently, we learned a new lesson of self-reliance so essential in the right use of our newly-found freedom and broader opportunities.

The end of the first year brought us to a plateau of victory. A warm feeling of satisfaction pervaded our thoughts in the attainment of many seemingly remote objectives. We were becoming accustomed to climbing and ready to scale new heights. Through discovery of ways to help each other up the grade our spirit of cooperation deepened.

More difficult tasks loomed in the next year; we realized that our mettle was receiving its first acid test and that we must really fight to win. Success carried us up the hill to the half-way house, where, over a summer, we paused to rest. What had previously seemed so unattainable, now appeared infinitely less difficult.

A closer and happier acquaintance, a class solidarity, and a common bond with fellow climbers developed when we were "Juniors." A team, united as Lafayetters with the ropes of Loyalty, Honor and Service, was pulling upward. We pressed on with new vigor and courage.

Seriousness of purpose has marked the present year. Determination to reach our high goal is increasingly evident. We, as friends, with sympathetic understanding, proceed to the fulfillment of all those bright hopes which have continually spurred us on our way.

Thus we reach the top, only to discover that our climbing has been in the easier foothills and the mountains still challenge our ambitions. But we have acquired a strength, a confidence, and an ability to meet the approaching ascents, which nothing can daunt. Your way leads to the mountains, mine again to the foothills to share, if I may, in the successes and problems of a new generation of students. But spiritually I shall always be with you as you explore the trails that beckon.

To the Seniors of 1938

David Lazarus

Salutatory

We of the graduating class of 1938 are indeed happy to have you with us this evening. This is an occasion for which we have planned and worked long, and it is with eagerness that we present for your enjoyment this long-awaited program, when for the first time we come together as a class. It is our hope that our plans and preparations will have enabled us to spend with you a most pleasant and enjoyable evening.

During this last year at Lafayette, we have become increasingly conscious of the turmoil and struggle which prevail throughout the civilized world today. Foreign political upheavals, constant war-threats, important domestic problems, are constantly kept before our minds in flaring newspaper headlines and radio talks. With these and other equally momentous occurrences taking place about us, we have felt it a primary duty to keep ourselves well informed in all these matters.

Yet it cannot rightly be said that we are unprepared to face these problems. Our four years at Lafayette, spent in constant acquisition of knowledge in various subjects under the remarkably patient supervision of Mr. Gott and our teachers, has instilled firmly within us that rare ability to see and think clearly in everything; to weigh carefully both sides of every question before drawing a final opinion. We are more grateful than we can express for all that has been done for us, and can only hope that in time we shall be able to justify if not exceed the confidence and faith in us expressed by our faculty.

From this all-important pathway of our lives, our courses will begin to take more definite form, branching out in countless directions. We shall no longer be a united class, progressing together as a unit in all we do. We shall have to accustom ourselves to take our places as self-dependent individuals in the world. For some of us fate and opportunity have decreed still higher education, through which we may broaden our limited knowledge and open the way for greater success in our undertakings. Still there are numerous others, destined for immediate entrance into the world of affairs and the well-known school of "hard knocks" who must take it upon themselves to be more quickly assimilated into adult life. No matter how diversified our paths may become, regardless of what may be our ultimate destination, we shall always be united by the common bond of Lafayette tradition, so deeply imprinted in our minds during our brief stay here. In our fields of life, irrespective of their type, we may be proud and more than slightly thankful for the extensiveness of our high-school training.

Traditions become outmoded eventually and must give place to new ones. We can say only that we sincerely hope that the classes who follow us will continue to uphold and cherish the splendid ideals of Loyalty, Honor and Service which have for so long been a tradition at Lafayette and which are our common heritage. In our separate, we, the class of 1938, will in all circumstances endeavor to hold in mind these principles, and hope that by this observance, we may become better citizens and be able to give better service to our fellow man.

HISTORY OF THE

In September of the year 1934, our favorite freshmen were welcomed for the first time by Mr. Gott into his "Plant." Conspicuously new, long pants, loud shirts, suit coats, bright colored make-up, and nervous thumb-twiddling children were to be seen throughout the large horseshoe-shaped assembly. M. Boland was there as was R. Spear. S. Birzon was seen passing notes to J. Davis. E. Wortham's, W. Jardine's, and A. Clamp's COLORFUL hair was the cause of much comment. C. Lumsden, F. Ciccarelli, and A. Haley were comparing their new bill folds. M. Gram had already started worrying about her senior exams. After 15 minutes of dazzled searching, D. Carestio and P. Dellinger finally found (to their dismay), that Rm. 32 was situated in the basement. B. Cole and M. Feinsinger startled Lafayette audiences with their extraordinary talents in the school musical. June exams ended our initial year at Lafayette.

In the fall of 1935, the sophisticated sophomores returned. Having stumbled through Algebra, Biology, and Latin, they were now headed for course No. 2, which contained Caesar, Geometry, and the annals of Ancient History. C. Jacobs glided through the halls quoting Caesar, while G. Allen, S. Fuller, and C. Brown were in a corner in Rm. 3 trying to prove two triangles congruent by S. A. S. Teachers were in a quandary as to what to do about A. L. Smith and A. O. Smith, F. Cleary and R. Cleary. From the school of practice came M. Grabau, C. Georgi, E. Thom and A. White. Also F. Breese, D. Beyer, C. Impelliter, and E. Burley. W. Dahlke, M. Staley, H. Janis, and J. Battles played on the hockey team. M. R. Lavin's hair was speculated upon and there were those who swore that she had a different wig for every day in the week. G. Kener and P. Devio asked J. Gorman and W. O'Brian if they were ill when they started counting the cups in the trophy case. J. Guarino sang in the Glee Club, while M. Freedman, J. Giovino, P. Cecala did a bit of tooting in the band. W. Denny, H. Clement, and L. Donnelly spent some of their valuable moments indulged in a fierce paper-wad battle which greatly disturbed F. Werman, J. Tripi, A. Petrella and A. Bellinger. Many sore fingers were the result of the friendly handshake of J. Puleo, who nonchalantly squeezes your hand until the bones crack. E. Maggio, W. Karg, and R. Weir, devoted their time to the homeroom basketball team, while A. Wooler, D. Meier, S. Walker, and R. Hinney devoted their valuable minutes to their textbooks. Exams and vacation followed.

Again we come back, with browned faces and brush hair cuts, to course No. 3 known to the H. S. Stud as the term of the Jolly Junior. Cicero, Physics, and Int. Alg. were waiting for us to hurdle them. We had lost part of our number in the June exams but had gained V. Ogden, M. Hebard, and D. Smith, who had decided to adopt the five-year plan. J. Patterson's soprano voice was heard when she sang in the assembly. H. Fackler again won honors in the declamation contest. B. Marshall was pretty shaky when he went up on the stage to get a check for a dollar. He wrote the Junior song. B. Karg was nominated All-High in Basketball, while C. Brooks made his major in Tennis. J. Hurst, B. Vaughan, J. Styers, K. Sherwood, D. Reed, and M. Ricotta supported the girls' sports. C. Cherry made the All-

High Football Team but entered Nichols the following September. K. Hooley could be found many times in the middle of a crowd. It was his YoYo that drew the crowds. R. O'Brian resolved to find another place in which to carry on his Jeepin'. W. Zavitz and M. Getz started what is known as another enduring romance at Lafayette. Through the efforts of G. Cohen, Lafayette was the only school in Buffalo to have moving pictures of their football team. Junior exams and the warm months followed.

The class of '38 had two weeks less to enjoy their Senior year because of the germ that loitered over the city during the month of September. We started the old grind 14 days late but we made it our business to make up the loss by doing double work. We were now Seniors, the body that sets the examples for the lower classes. Every Senior cooperated in doing his best to keep up the standards expected of him. Rm. 3 went to town in the field of sports. A. Wooler, J. Swain, V. Beardsell, J. Puleo, W. Dahlke, D. Sherwood, B. Brown, D. Copeland, F. Saeli, and E. Riselay made their major L in football. W. Meese was unanimously elected Editor-in-Chief of the Oracle. Z. Amdur and E. Janis jumped ahead a year to join us. On the cafeteria squad were J. Seigal, E. Callahan, P. Callahan, I. Rumizen and F. Spezio. J. Boswell, A. Haley, R. Goodman, E. Daluiso, and G. Deming were approved of as cheer leaders. N. Cohn was the Belle of Mr. Geib's 4th hour Intermediate class. Al Corry helped put the rowing team over the top, while C. Sherman talked his debating team into victory. R. Reidpath, R. Dunbar, and G. Jones suggested that they adopt Rm. 8a as their homeroom. The friendships between B. Heinicke and P. Bolza, P. Hengerer and V. Hutchinson, C. Barberio and J. Parrish, M. Fries and F. Crossman grew stronger in their last year. J. Serns, S. Kaminker and B. Heller agreed to break the tardiness record. H. Covert was hailed as the human back-scratcher. M. Benson, and J. Booker came from out of town and enrolled at Lafayette. J. Compo also enrolled at Lafayette and won public acclaim for her marvelous feats as Cheer Leader. J. Davis was one of the (K)nit wits.

And now as we complete the history of the class of 1938, we wonder, as we pass through the halls, into what field each of us will venture. Both the Senior Girls and Boys enjoyed their years at Lafayette and we are sure that in years to come, they will look back to the "Old Plant" with a feeling that cannot be expressed.

John L. Sheehan

We face a thousand different fates
And ask, "Which road to fame and glory?
Enlighten us to what awaits!"

"What untimely haste is here,
My children?" quoth the sages hoary.
"Time enough to nurture fear!"

"But we are anxious, eager souls,
Intolerant of patient graces.
Illuminate the pathway to our goals!"

"Enlightenment is born of learning
And would fire the blackest places;
But light evades an empty yearning."

"If we shall be content to wait,
Will wisdom come as of today?
Must we languish for our fate?"

"Destiny will seek you out
The while you fitfully do pray.
Knowledge is your own, ne'er doubt."

Class Poem

Charlotte Georgi

Every year at this time, it becomes the honor and privilege, although a rather sad duty, of some one person to deliver the Valedictory, a last Farewell to this, our Lafayette. From this time forth, we face the world, not as high school students, but, at least in some measure, as educated citizens in our respective communities, ready to assume intelligently the responsibilities and burdens of government. Perhaps it would be fitting, since we are standing on the threshold of a new experience in our lives, to take inventory of our assets and liabilities, before we venture forth.

During our four years at Lafayette, while we have been engaged in our various studies and sports, we have not only developed mentally but morally, for knowledge formulates character. From the splendid examples set us by our instructors, their friendly and expert guidance, and the always helpful advice of Mr. Gott, we have been unconsciously influenced toward a richer, fuller life. This daily contact we lose, but their influences have become an integral part in our natures.

We have also enjoyed many happy experiences with the many friends we have made here, friendships which may be severed, but whose memories can never fade.

Through our years here we have been imbued with the old and honorable traditions which are Lafayette's alone. Memorial Day, Arbor Day, Class Day, all these will have special and lasting significance. Inspired by our Lafayette motto, LOYALTY, HONOR, AND SERVICE, we are challenged and stimulated to greater achievements.

Equipped thus, mentally, morally, and spiritually, we go to take our part in these troubled modern times, times which are shadowed by the impending threat of war. We know not what the future holds. Some of us will go on to higher institutes of learning; others will go directly into the business world. But whatever divergent paths we take, we shall be richer and wiser for the years we have spent in Lafayette.

With these thoughts uppermost in our minds, and with our hearts filled with gratitude, we say Farewell to that which embodies the fondest memories of our youth, LAFAYETTE.

Valedictory

Junior "Prexy" Hugh Kennedy, graduate of School 64, is among other things a seasoned traveler, veteran of three European tours. This popular, witty gentleman, a harmonica virtuoso, is an able cartoonist.

Sophisticated Junior Vice-President Lorna Hilson, graduate of School 19, has always been an active participant in club activities. Her interests of the moment are sports, collecting china animals and acquiring a deep tan.

Ellen Bryans, historian of her graduating class at School 52, has added to her honors the position of Secretary of the Junior Class. This competent, dark-haired Junior likes horses, dancing and popular singer, K. Baker.

George Gundlach, mildly-disposed Treasurer of the Junior Class, is a four star man in scientific research at Lafayette. A graduate of School 64, this genial, dark-complexioned person is an ardent tennis player.

Junior Officers

CLASSES

"As a student of Lafayette, I am an heir to all her possessions; her spirit, her lofty ideals, her time hallowed traditions. Her slogan "Loyalty, Honor, Service," is my choicest heritage."

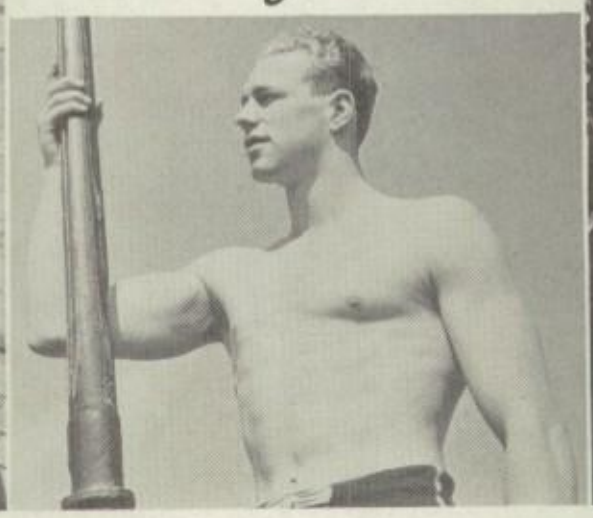
..... We NOMINATE for our OWN Hall of Fame

JOHN BENNETT, popular crew coach of our successful Lafayette varsity, is a 1931 graduate of the "Old Plant." An all-water athlete while here, he was a four-star crew and swimming man and president of his Senior class.



A portrait of success in athletic fields is Lafayette's popular personality, IAN MacLEAN. As high diver, football player, professional acrobat, and valuable aid to physical instructors, he has been a generous contributor of honor and pride to his Alma Mater.

One of Lafayette's unique possessions is the man with the elevator. A very few know his name to be VINCENT CONELLY, but the familiar "Oscar" will head his bid to posterity. Seldom are such gifts of humor and discretion met in one person; he is the confidant of all students, and quite possibly the teachers.

Navy-Junior and Lafayette Senior JEAN COMPO, the comely cheer leader at all the football games, is perhaps the original traveling schoolgirl. She has not spent more than two consecutive years in any one place, having attended schools in Panama, Pensacolo, Long Beach, Norfolk, Coronado, and Boston.

VIRGINIA "Katherine Cornell" GREATHEAD-HUTCHINSON, the demure little southern girl who is definitely not the type on whom we Yankees lavish the sledge-hammer blow of good fellowship, aspires to tread the boards of the legitimate theater in future days. When asked when she was dramatically inspired she modestly retorted: "Oh, I just woke up one morning and there I was."

MARION FEINSINGER, better known on the national broadcasting network system as Marion Morgan, Helen's little sister, is a truly glamorous bud of "The Old Plant." She gratefully attributes the discovery of her latent talent to Mr. Kolassa, who gave her a start in School Musicals. We think she will go a long way.

ANNE CLOAK, sedate and dignified Senior Class Historian, possesses, among many other talents, that of prophetic speech. This modern Cassandra has made but one error, when she said that certain other people would become "blues-singers" in the near future.

Mild-tobacco-connoisseur, JOHN BATTAGLIA, the proud possessor of a mean backhand tennis stroke and a Sweet Briar pipe, is always heard when driving his '28 Nash. The brakes are reluctant, the doors undecided, but we'll take a ride with Long John anytime . . . if we're asked.

GORDON COHEN '39 is the school's photographic authority. He has sponsored "Behind the Camera" in the Triangle, the unique "Scholastic News Reel" and many of the candid shots on the division pages of the '38 Oracle.

For his modesty and convincing manner of speech Lafayette is proud of ROSS WESTON. Brilliantly he has competed in the Boys' Oratorical Contest, and the sincere and effective delivery of his original essay, "The Means Determine the End" was awarded top honors in the '38 city-wide competition.

EDDIE MAGGIO, the paragon of Lafayette's swing pride, is carrying on the tradition of a family of musicians. Inspired by his talent at the clarinet and saxophone, the maestro enjoys managing his musical nine and dance hall of his own.

ORACLE and TRIANGLE SALESMEN

• Sponsored ably by the faculty advisors, Miss Brogan and Mr. Monroe, the Lafayette Triangle opened its fourth and biggest year with an eight-page edition. In the co-editorship were Betty Heinike and Willard Tornow, bursting with news of the student body.

Among the year's activities of the paper was a dance, which was absolutely free for those students who had subscribed to the Triangle. A second Triangle Tone News, sponsored by the students, reviewing some of the fall sports' highlights, was shown at the Boys' Letter Day Program.

On December 4, 1937, a great honor was bestowed upon the school when Willard Tornow was elected president of the Western New York Interscholastic Press Association. The coed-co-editor, Betty Heinike, is the first girl in the history of the Triangle to write a boys' sports column—namely the Scoreboard.

The third issue was reduced to six pages and the paper's size continued as such for the remainder of the year. A year-long contest was sponsored by the Triangle to reward those who had written over a certain number of inches of published news material.

ORCHESTRA

CHORUS

• Throughout the winter, Mr. Jocoy's two Chorus classes have been singing diligently in preparation for Spring performancesi n the future. They banded together for a memorable lower school assembly program early this season, in which Janice Patterson sang "Morning" by Oley Speaks, and the Chorus sang "The Sea Has Its Pearl," and "My Johnnie Was a Shoemaker." A selected group of the girls sang for the Dramatic Club program on May 19. These included Evelyn Bradley, Elvera Guercio, Ruth Gretsinger, Bernice Davis, Margaret Schultz, Ruth Dunkirk, Betty L. Smith, Dorothy Reed, Virginia Hutchinson, and Janice Patterson.

• Under the expert guidance of Mr. Grayden Monroe the Science Club meets every Thursday afternoon. Since December 1, 1937, the club, unlike the others in the school, has restricted its membership and has required new members to meet rigid qualifications requiring the majority vote of the entire club.

SCIENCE CLUB

This club was founded solely as an educational and instructive group. It choses weekly a different discussion topic which will interest the individual members. At one of the meetings Charles Whitcher, boy herpetologist, gave a very unusual speech on his two six-foot snakes; while talking, he demonstrated with the two snakes wrapped around his neck.

DRAMATIC CLUB

• Ranking high in the group of popular scholastic activities stands the Dramatic Club. Under the leadership of Miss Wechter, the club endeavors to acquaint the members with facts about the theater, actors, and productions. On May 19, the following plays were given: NERVES by John Farrar, and REHEARSAL by Christopher Morley. The highlight of this year's activities was an invitation to see a preview of the play, SPRING DANCE, given by the University of Buffalo. The officers of the club are Helen Fackler, President; Jack Boswell, Vice-President; Harriet Wile, Secretary; and Kenneth Smith, Treasurer.

• When the weather is fair the Sketch Club enjoys trips to the nearby countryside. Its purposes are the mental training in accuracy, and exercise in making hard work interesting. Hugh Kennedy is chairman of the group, and Irving Goodman, Angeline Mantione, Frances Woodworth and Miss Davis compose the executive committee.

SKETCH CLUB

Natalie Cohen

RIDING CLUB

• Under the capable leadership of its advisor, Miss Hartzell, the Riding Club members ride each week at the Cavalry in winter, and at Spruceland's Academy in the spring. Transportation to the latter is provided in the form of a truck. The trails which the equestrians follow at Orchard Park are in the midst of green wooded hills in the country. On several rides new trails have been blazed for future use.

Early in the spring a joint meeting was held between the officers of the Riding Clubs of Bennett and Lafayette High Schools at which ideas were exchanged on conducting clubs in a more interesting manner. Arrangements have been made for a club luncheon, ride, and picnic in the near future.

• In 1937, Le Cercle Francais was reorganized under the leadership of Miss B. Goldstein.

For the purpose of entertainment, much time is spent singing French songs, playing French games, studying and reading newspaper clippings.

FRENCH CLUB

To join this club, one must speak French quite fluently, for the entire meeting is held in French.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

• The Photography Club has contributed much to the pictorial glory of Lafayette and a most successful season has been enjoyed by all. By joining the Eastman Camera Club Service, the group has profited by many enjoyable and instructive programs. The informal pictures in the Oracle this year were taken by the Photography Club.

• The Girl Reserves, a national organization, and a branch of the Young Women's Christian Association, is very active in Lafayette. Under the leadership of Miss Iulg the members meet every Friday. As junior members of the Y. W. C. A. they have enjoyed many of its privileges. Many entertaining and educational meetings have been held during the year. One of the most interesting speakers was Mrs. Williams, Councellor at Bennett High School, who gave an informal talk on "The Art of Make-Up."

CHESS CLUB

● This year the Chess Club of Lafayette was a splendid organization, through the capable management ot Sherwood Hiller. Although it did not enter the All-High Tournament the club was divided into two teams; they held a tournament between them. Chess problems were divided and presented to the members.

JUNIOR-SENIOR HI-Y

● Our Lafayette Hi-Y Club, which has the distinction of being the first group of its kind in New York State, having been formed under the capable direction ot Cap Mellen, has had a successful social and educational season. The following serve as officers: President, Charles W. Moore; Vice-President, William McLean; Secretary, Vincent Tripi; and Treasurer, Donald F. MacKenzie.

HISTORY FORUM

● The History Forum Club discusses problems which are suggested by the secretary, Caryl Cohen; the marshall, Stuart Walker; the faculty advisors and the members. Although this is only the first year of its existence, the club has been very successful and popular. The directors ot this group are Norma Grill, Bernice Ziff, Louis Gallo, and James Tedesco; the advisor is Miss Frances Pitt.

● During the year, the Negative and Affirmative shared the honors, both winning one debate. The subjects were the Neutrality Law, and Compulsory Automobile Insurance. Lafayette placed fifth. Members of the Debate Team were Virginia Hutchinson, Thomas Osborn, Donald MacKenzie, Laurence Golden, Sally Levy, Elinor Lapat, Carl Sherman, and Anatole Shapiro.

DEBATE TEAM

● The exclusive Vergil Club, sponsored by Miss Marian Clark and conducted by Robert Malin, President, and Richard Sherwood, Secretary, meets weekly to discuss Greek philosophy and Roman mythology.

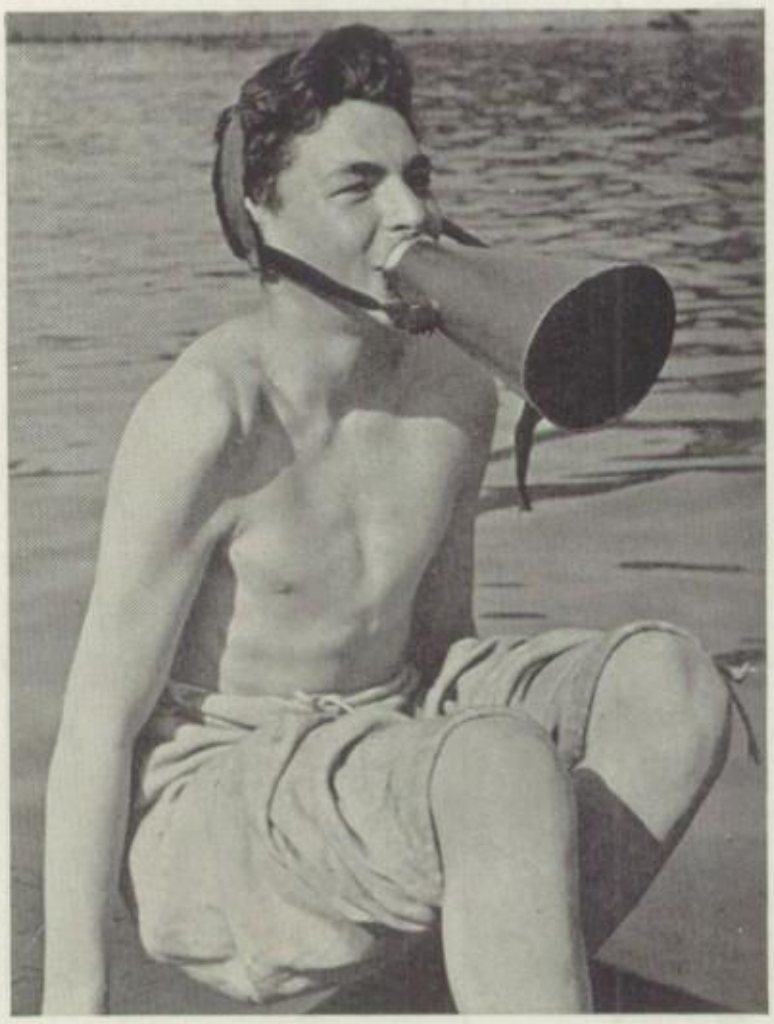
VIRGIL CLUB

GERMAN CLUB

● Under the administration of Eric Beu, President; John Unterecker, Vice-President; and Margaret Dionne, Secretary-Treasurer; the German Club has enjoyed a varied program ranging from musical selections to discussions of eminent Germans. The group is ably sponsored by Miss Schultz.

CAPTAIN VIC BEARDSELL

Vic, weight—180 pounds, height—5 feet 10 inches, who was heralded as a potential "All-High" footballer early in the season, unmistakably proved to his critics that his ability was not overrated. A scoring threat every time he received the ball, this halfback was the sparkplug of the Violet's first two football victories. A wrenched knee benched him for the remainder of the season.



ISRAEL LENZNER

Cherubic Israel Lenzner, capable cox of the West-side Rowing Club, employs his snappy black eyes and powerful voice to direct the oarsmen at practice. He trains with the crew twice a day and cheers the boys on during games, aspiring to the day when he will row himself instead of coxing.

ATHLETICS

"Hail Lafayette—the victory is won,
Wide fling the flags—the battle is done.
Wave the Violet and White; never forget—
She is our queen—Lafayette."

FOOTBALL TEAM

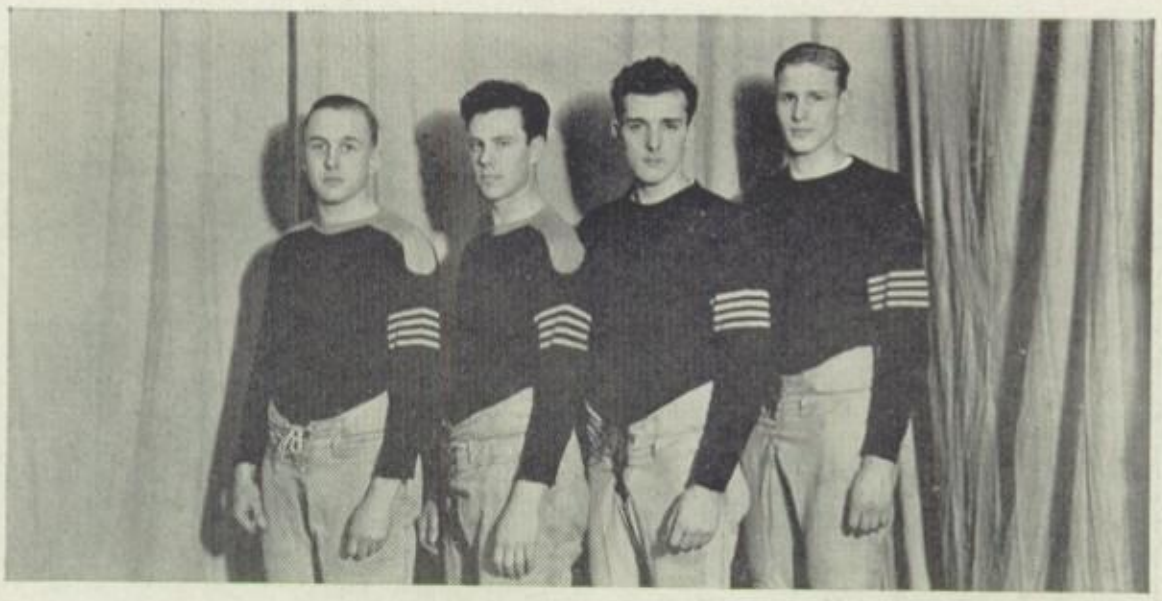
• With a promising team, and a thorough determination to win the Harvard Cup before the retirement of Coach Hans Flygare, our valiant group of football stalwarts opened the season with a plucky 12-0 victory over Grover Cleveland. In a spectacular game with Riverside, a one point margin resulted in a 13-12 victory for the battered Violets. Minus the services of seven regulars, the aftermath of the Riverside victory, a two point lead gained through a touchback in the second quarter proved to be the only score in the win over McKinley. The following week the undefeated Lafayetters received their first setback by their archrivals, Masten, who proved to be the stronger by gaining a 7-0 win. In the last game of the regular schedule, Hutchinson sent the Violets down to a 12-0 defeat.

This year two leagues were organized among the twelve high schools, six teams in each league. At the end of the five game schedule, the first two leaders of one division were to meet the respective two leaders of the other division on Thanksgiving Day. A deadlock for second place necessitated a playoff with Riverside who revenged its former defeat by winning over Lafayette 12-0.

In all fairness to the team and to its coach, injuries were the cause of the late season lapse. At one time or another, every man on the varsity team was on the injured list.

"ED" RISELAY

A very fast end, 150 pounds, 5 feet 11 inches, Ed was noted for streaking down the field to tackle an opponent attempting to run back a punt. An injured knee benched him for the last two games.



WALTER DAHLKE

Standing 5 feet, 11½ inches and weighing 175 pounds, Walt was a better defensive than offensive end. Although only average in pass receiving, Dahlke broke up many plays with his deadly tackles.

AL CORRY—A stalwart, good-looking linesman, 183 pounds, 6 feet 1 inch, Al played most of the line positions. During the season he played right guard, left guard, right tackle and left end. Ankle injuries benched him for the Grover Cleveland tussle.

AL WOOLER—The giant of the team, Al, 173 pounds, 6 feet 3½ inches, played bang-up football, both defensively and offensively. A wrenched knee benched him for the Hutch game; yet he received "honorable mention" in the All-High football ratings.

IAN "SCOTTY" MacLEAN

A strong, husky guard, Scotty, 165 pounds, 5 feet 10 inches, hit a streak of ill luck in mid-season. A slight brain concussion and an injured hip caused the team to lose his services for the Riverside, McKinley, and Hutch games.

JOE PULEO

The strong man of the team, good-natured Joe punted and passed besides playing tackle. An injured foot debarred him from the Grover Cleveland game, but a fine comeback led him to a football and rowing scholarship to Syracuse University.

EDGAR "BUD" BROWN—The heavyweight of the team in September, Bud, 228 pounds, 6 feet, played in two positions, tackle and center. His major achievement came at the close of the season, when 33 pounds of excess "fat" were lost.

JOHN SWAIN—A lightweight compared to other high school guards, Swain packed plenty of fight in his 5 foot, 9 inch, 155 pound frame. He became an early-season favorite with the fans when he blocked and recovered a kick for a touchdown against Grover Cleveland.

"DICK" SHERWOOD

The smallest man on the line, and the lightest center in the league, Dick, weight 153 pounds, height 5 feet 7½ inches, played a spirited game.

BASKETBALL TEAM

• Heralded as the chief challenger to the Yale Cup before the opening game, the 1937-38 basketball team was better than final tabulations reveal. In the first game of the season the speedy, spectacular Hutch laddies swamped the Violets 60-33. Victorious over Emerson 35-25, the Lafayetters won their second straight game by routing an East quintet 42-25. It seemed that the team had finally hit its winning stride, but a wide-awake Seneca outfit upset the favored Lafayetters by a 37-27 score. A win over McKinley respirited the homesters, but in their next start, spotty officiating resulted in a 29-27 defeat by South Park. In a crucial game with Bennett, the Violets were overcome 24-21 but only after a game battle. A win over Grover Cleveland by a 25-22 margin, and a defeat at the hands of Burgard 26-23, placed the Violet and Whites in the second division. In the final three games, Lafayette routed Technical 45-21, outlasted its archrivals Fosdick-Masten 30-27 and conquered Riverside 32-21.

With seven wins and five losses, several of which were lost by two or three point differences, the Lafayette basketball team finished in fourth position. Although preseason predictions in the win and lose columns failed, the Violets are the second best offensive team of the series with 377 points.

ALBERT WESTLEY–Learning his basketball principles at School 52, Westley, height 5 feet 9½ inches, was the most publicized and feared Violet player. A dead shot when "hot", Al was our highest scorer and fourth highest in the league with a score of 111 points. This offensive ability earned him a Buffalo Times All-High second team berth.

JOHN BATTAGLIA — Standing 5 feet 11½ inches, Battaglia, who earned a first team berth the first year he joined the squad, was a better defensive than offensive player. Learning basketball at the Y. M. C. A. and School 77, John enjoyed "roughing it," but came out of his many mixups long enough to score 49 points during the season.

DONALD BEYER — The best Violet all-around basketball representative, Captain Beyer, height 5 feet 11 inches, was the second best offensive star on the team and seventh highest scorer in the league with 102 points. For this offensive consistency and his intelligent defensive tactics, Don was awarded a Courier Express All-High second team guard position.

ALBERT WOOLER — Standing 6 feet 3 inches, Albert was a distinct scoring threat to the opponents, but unluckily it was not until the last game of the season that Wooler was able to use his height to an offensive advantage.

BOYS' SWIMMING TEAM

• In the interscholastic meets, the Lafayette swimming team has had one defeat, South Park 42½, Lafayette 32½; one forfeit-victory over Grover Cleveland, and brilliant triumphs over East 46-29, Riverside 38-37, and Hutchinson 53-22. At this writing a single meet with Bennett and the All-High competition remain on the schedule.

To Coach Rogers, the manager, and the members of the squad, all of whom worked with energy and success, are due the praise and gratitude of the student body.

• Under the able direction of Mrs. O. Black, the Violet and White teams were chosen. Olma Jean Thaxter was chosen to captain the Violets and Emma Moore was the White captain. Urged on by the enthusiasm of Mrs. Black the teams entered into keen competition and the Whites were victorious by a narrow margin.

There were also two freshman teams that met three times a week for two weeks. Many potential Olympic stars have been discovered among the girls. Regular practice and expert instruction have greatly aided the girls in the perfection of their strokes and timing.

• Present prospects for girls' baseball are high. Miss Riegel has posted tentative team ratings, and the annual Homeroom Circuit will soon bring renewed competition, as Juniors and Seniors battle indiscriminately among themselves. Waiting players form a competent gallery, and sideline comments are enlightening. So, with last year's teams augmented by this year's sophomores, this present season offers keen pleasure and much action.

GIRLS' BASEBALL

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

• Both Junior and Senior girls turned out in large numbers for the girls' 1938 basketball season. After a few weeks of "brushing up" on their game, under the direction of Miss Riegel, various homeroom teams were chosen. Each team had some excellent players, and the final scores usually were very close. The prospective Violet and White teams have not been chosen; but will consist of the outstanding players among the girls.

• During the fall and winter months, the volleyball enthusiasts competed for supremacy in the gyms. Preceding the selection of the teams, there was much practice. Betty O'Brian was chosen captain of the Violets and Ruth Dunkirk was chosen captain of the Whites. Finally, when the selection was made the teams played many fast and thrilling games. The Violet team, although meeting with much competition, was victorious.

To the Entire Staff of the 1938 Oracle:

PLAUDITS TO YOU

(WITH A KUDOS OR TWO FOR OURSELVES)

• If you will pardon our saying so, it is a mighty fine book—this 1938 edition of the Oracle you now have in your hands. Every page reflects the inspired work of the editor, William Meese, and his staff. And while the equally arduous tasks of the business manager, Donald Hodgman, may not be quite so apparent, it is well to remember that the book would never have been published save for his persistent endeavors in organizing the "cash."

• And we, who have been privileged to work with you, have enjoyed every step of the way. For no matter how many yearbooks we may have published in the thirty years we have been specializing in this exacting field, every college annual is a challenge in itself. A challenge to our ability to work with the staffs charged with its creation, a challenge to our ingenuity to assist in its originality of format and content, a challenge to our capacity to organize the eight essential gears in yearbook production so that a powerful and distinctive result is assured.

• So we cannot close the last forms of this edition without endeavoring to say in cold type how warmly we have enjoyed working with you, how masterful a job we feel you have done, and how fervently we look forward to working with future Oracle staffs with the same sincerity of purpose which has signalized the creation of this book from cover to cover.
